The INSIDE Story of Palring Installation

The inside – or down side – of Palring panels are marked with the word “IN” on the side of the panel that faces the inside of the structure. “IN” will appear on the panel in a vertical alignment as shown below:

I N

This marking will appear in multiple places.

In addition, the lettering will be printed on the inside of the panel, which will be apparent because the printing will be darker when seen from the inside than from the outside. Below the word “IN” are production codes that you can ignore.

Proper installation is important since an additive is placed on the inside of the panel to prevent the dripping of condensation.

The panel’s orientation should be confirmed by checking the markings.
